Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609 A(1) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Specification

The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 3 and 6 recite the limitation "where in the booster" in the second line of the claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2834

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mizuyama et al. (US 4347451).

Mizuyama et al. teach a rotating machine comprising:

a rotating electric machine comprising:

a plurality of ventilating passages (39, 40) formed between a stator frame (31) and a stator iron core (128);

a cooler (38) which cools a coolant is provided at least in one ventilating passage (40), communicating with a central portion (which is the center of the thickness of the core in the radial direction) of said stator iron core (128), of said plurality of ventilating passages; and a ventilating circuit (d, g) in which the coolant cooled by said cooler is allowed to flow to said central portion of said stator iron core in a direction from an outer peripheral side (d, e) to an inner peripheral side of said stator iron core (128) via said at least one ventilating passage which communicates with said central portion of said stator iron core (128).

Regarding claims 2, 3, 5 and 6 Mizuyama et al. teach the electric machine as described above comprising a booster (37) for boosting the coolant which includes a fan.

Regarding claim 4, Mizuyama et al. teach a rotating electric machine comprising:

a plurality of ventilating passages formed between a stator frame and a stator iron core; coolers which cool a coolant being provided in said plurality of said ventilating passages;

a ventilating circuit in which at least a portion of the coolant which is cooled by one of said coolers is further cooled by another of said coolers (see figure 3 coolers 38), and is allowed to flow to a central portion in an axial direction of said stator iron core in a direction from an outer peripheral side to an inner peripheral side of said stator iron core at least via one ventilating passage of said plurality of ventilating passage which communicates with said central portion in an axial 10 direction of said stator iron core.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892.
